what is the future of curatorship is there a vision for an ideal model a curatopia whether in the form of a utopia or dystopia or is there a plurality of approaches amounting to a curatorial heterotopia this pioneering volume addresses these questions by considering the current state of curatorship it reviews the different models and approaches operating in museums galleries and cultural organisations around the world and discusses emerging concerns challenges and opportunities the collection explores the ways in which the mutual asymmetrical relations underpinning global scientific entanglements of the past can be transformed into more reciprocal symmetrical forms of cross cultural curatorship in the present arguing that this is the most effective way for curatorial practice to remain meaningful international in scope the volume covers three regions europe north america and the pacific during and immediately after the first world war there was a merging of christian and nationalist traditions of martyrdom expressed in the design of war cemeteries and war memorials and the state funeral of the unknown warrior in 1920 john wolffe explores the subsequent development of these traditions of sacred and secular martyrdom analysing the ways in which they operated sometimes in parallel sometimes merged together and sometimes in conflict with each other particular topics explored include the protestant commemoration of marian and missionary martyrs and the roman catholic campaign for the canonization of the saints and martyrs of england secular martyrdom is discussed in relation to military conflicts especially the second world war and the falklands in ireland there was a particularly persistent merging of sacred and secular martyrdom in the wake of the easter rising of 1916 although by the time of the northern ireland troubles in the later twentieth century these traditions diverged in covering these themes the book also offers historical and comparative context for understanding present day acts of martyrdom in the form of suicide attacks history education by nature transmits an official version of national identity national identity is not a fixed entity and controversy over history teaching is an essential part of the process of redefining and regenerating the nation france and the united states have in particular experienced demographic and cultural shifts since the 1960s that have resulted in intense debates over national identity this volume examines how each country s national history is represented in primary schools social studies textbooks and curricula and how they handle contemporary issues of ethnicity diversity gender socio economic inequality and patriotism by analyzing each country separately and comparatively it demonstrates how various groups including academics politicians and citizen activists have influenced education and how the process of writing and rewriting history perpetuates a nation drawing on empirical studies of the united states and france this volume provides insight into broader nationalist processes and instructive principles for similar countries in the modern world catastrophic historicism unsettles the historicist constitution of julia de burgos 1914 53 puerto rico s most iconic writer a critical task that necessitates redefining the concept of historicism through readings of aristotle walter benjamin jacques derrida werner hamacher and frank ankersmit mendoza de jesús shows that historicism grounds historical objectivity in the historian s capacity to compose totalizing narratives that domesticate the contingency of the past while critiques of historicism as a realism leave untouched the sovereignty of the historian the book insists that reading the text of history requires an attunement to danger a modality that interrupts historicism by infusing the past with a contingency that evades total appropriation after desedimenting the monumental tradition that has reduced de burgos to a totemic figure catastrophic historicism reads the poet s first collection poema en 20 surcos 1938 mendoza de jesús argues that the historicity of poema crystallizes in the lyrical speaker s self institution as an embodied ipseity which requires producing racialized gendered allegorical figures the bearers of an abject flesh that lack any ontological resistance to modern alienation rather than treating de burgos s poetics of selfhood as the ideal image of puerto rican sovereignty mendoza de jesús endangers this idealization by drawing attention to the abjection that sustains our attachments to ipseity as the form of a truly sovereign life in this way catastrophic historicism not only resets the terms of ongoing critiques of historicism in the humanities it also intervenes in puerto rican historicity for the sake of its transformation
